The Georgia State Prison Education Program through Perimeter College provides an avenue to resiliency and hope as described in the book Just Mercy. GSUPEP began in 2016 through a partnership with Common Good Atlanta at Phillips State Prison in Buford, Ga., with the goal of bringing education to men and women incarcerated in Georgia’s prisons and supporting re-entry into society. Since that time, classes have been offered at the U.S. federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Walker State Prison, Hancock State Prison and the Atlanta Transitional Center.

Join us as Dr. Lindsay shares his insights about the key ethical societal challenges faced by individuals navigating the judicial system and the impact of higher education and Georgia State’s Prison Education Program.
